

Housetraining Chart

This chart is a useful way to chart your puppy's progress. The reason for using a chart is to identify daily patterns and track the difficult times of day that your puppy needs to be watched more closely or crated. Circle the location of accidents on the chart to quickly identify difficult spots. If the number of accidents does not decrease over time, you should look at your daily routine and use better management strategies. As always, keep your puppy in a long-term confinement area if you might be gone longer than your puppy can currently hold it. This is a sample page filled out. The next page is blank for your convenience. Good luck, you can do it!

Date	Location	Time	Output			Crate In	Crate Out	Time Ate	Time Drank
12.18	Backyard	8am	0	1	2	9am		8:30am	8:30am
12.18	Backyard	Noon	0	1	2	12:05pm	12:30pm		12:30pm
12.18	Backyard	12:35	0	1	2	2pm	4PM
12.18	Kitchen Floor	4:30pm	0	1	2	4:35pm	8pm	6pm	6pm, 8pm
12.18	Backyard	8pm	0	1	2	8:45pm	10pm
12.18	Backyard	11:00pm	0	1	2	11:15pm
12.19	Backyard	7:00am	0	1	2			8am	8am
12.19	Dining Room	8:20am	0	1	2	8:25am	Noon		Noon
12.19	Backyard	12:05pm	0	1	2	12:15pm	4pm		4pm
12.19	Backyard	4:05pm	0	1	2	4:10pm	4:30pm
12.19	Backyard	4:30PM	0	1	2			6pm	6pm

Houstraining Chart

Date	Time	Location	Output			Crate In	Crate Out	Time Ate	Time Drank
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2
			0	1	2				